Heartland Construction, Inc. Names New Vice President

CHESAPEAKE, VA., JANUARY 6, 2021 – Heartland Construction, Inc. is excited to announce the promotion of TJ Canfield to Vice President.

Since 2018, TJ has been a key member of Heartland's team – serving both as a Project Manager and as Lead Estimator. TJ's recent list of successful projects includes additions to B.M. Williams Primary School, Smithfield High School Career Building, Accomack County Courthouse Renovations, and E.W. Chittum Elementary School Replacement.

"TJ has proven himself to be a consistent leader who is always focused on the overall success of the company", said Heartland's President, Eric Stichler.

In his new role, TJ will oversee business opportunities in coordination with both the Business Development and Preconstruction departments of the company, as well as provide administrative oversight of corporate-level budgeting. TJ's involvement will be tailored to ensure that new projects are properly onboarded in order to provide clients with a finished project that aligns with their requirements through a delivery that exceeds their expectations.

TJ was born and raised in Western New York and is a graduate of SUNY Brockport University. He lives in Virginia Beach with his wife and son.
