

Kinsley Promotes Jarrod Schiding to Lead Business Development Team

Herndon, VA – Kinsley Construction, Inc. is pleased to announce that Jarrod Schiding has been promoted to a new role in the company's Building Division. As Director of Business Development, Jarrod is responsible for managing and coordinating the efforts of all business development activities and related resources across all building division business units within the Mid-Atlantic region. Jarrod will partner with the leadership team to set and lead business development strategies. He will add value to the business development process by coordinating organizational resources to improve Kinsley's opportunity to win, while maintaining its core values.

Jarrold holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management from Penn State University. He joined Kinsley in 2005 as a project estimator and has developed an in-depth knowledge of the organization's capabilities, services, operations and experience.
